How It's Made - April 2011

This club was designed to go behind the scenes of local businesses and organisations which wouldn't be readily available for the users of the club to visit. The places that we were visiting had been chosen in advance. The places we visited were places that the group had an interest in but didn't know much about. These were, Tayside Fire and Rescue, RNLI Broughty Ferry, Clarks Bakery, 225 Field Ambulance at Oliver Barracks T.A Centre and the Odeon Cinema.

Overall this was a great club enjoyed by staff and young people alike. It was a great opportunity to let young people see that there is more to their area that what they expect. A lot of them did say that they were going to become,

Firemen, Lifeguards, bakers but surprisingly none of them said they would become a projectionist at the cinema. I think they were just more eager and excited to see the film.

Every week when the young people were getting dropped off they were very excited about what they were about to see and do. The same goes for when they were picked up they were running across to their families and carers and telling them all about what had happened that night. This club was a great success and gave a very positive message to the young people about what they could do when they grow up and also taught them that there is more to their city than what they thought.
